YS CLEVELAND HIEF JUSTICE ABUSES POWER

COLUMBUS, Nov. 27.—A petition in quo warranto, asking that Homer G. Powell, Cleveland, be ousted from the position of chief justice of the Cuyahoga county common pleas court, was filed in the state supreme court today by Edward C. Stanton, prosecuting attorney of Cuyahoga county.

Stanton avers that Powell was elected to his position by the other common pleas judges, but that his exercise of the general superintendence of the court is contrary to the state constitution, because application of the law is not uniform throughout the state, that it provides for the diminution of the compensation of judges during their term of office, and that it provides for filling by appointment an elective judicial office.

The petition states that Powell "unlawfully usurps the office and performs and exercises the duties of chief justice fo the court to the great injury of the citizens of the state."

DOG SAVES MASTER IN RAILROAD FIRE

CINCINNATI, Nov. 27.—Another dog has his day yesterday. "Sport," the hero of the Big Four work crew in St. Bernard, saved his master from death in fire.

Julius Geise, forman of the work crew, slept in a railroad car at Murray Road. He was awakened by "Sport" barking and tugging at his covers. He found one side of the car in flames.

Geise attempted to make his way to a doorway, but found escape cut off. Seizing his dog he leaped to safety from a window.

INDICT 8 MEN IN $1,000,000 ROBBERY

CHICAGO, Nov. 27—The grand jury indicted eight men here today in connection with the $1,000,000 looting of the Werner Brothers warehouse, a crime which police claim resulted indirectly in four murders.

Simultaneously, "Dr" Spencer Brown, alleged master mind in theft and one of those indicted was arrested by federal officers, accused of fraudulently altering government bonds and stamps.

SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR TWO DAYS

The local schools will be closed Thanksgiving Day and Friday. The Christmas vacation starts Dec. 21 and ends Jan. 6.

POWER OF SUPREME COURT CURBED BY PLAN IN CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Out of a series of conferences that are practically continuous on both senate and house sides of the capitol there emerged today a tentative draft of a legislative program which the militant little progressive group in the new congress will endeavor to put through in the new session.

The tentative program includes:

1—Revision of the Esch-Cummins act with probable restoration of rate fixing powers to the interstate commerce commission and some action, tending to force a reduction in freight rates.

2—Revision of income tax by reducing taxes on small incomes and increasing the taxes on large incomes, increases on inheritance taxes, and re-enactment on an excess profit tax.

3—A proffer of amendment to the administration in enacting all "satisfactory" farm legislation, with an effort to enact a wheat stabilization bill.

4—Enacting of legislation curbing the powers of federal judges, and providing that the United States supreme court can declare acts of congress unconstitutional only by two thirds vote.

5—Enactment of a constitutional amendment to start the terms of president and all members of congress on January 1, following their elections instead of on March 4, as at present.

6—Enactment of a constitutional amendment abolishing electoral college and providing for the abolition of child labor, and to prohibit the issuance of tax free securities.

8—Enactment of legislation providing for a degree of governmental supervision and control over coal and oil industries.

The progressives also are seeking some method of taxing stock dividends.

GROVE PATTERSON, FORMER ELYRIAN, WILL WRITE FOR THE CHRONICLE-TELEGRAM

The Chronicle-Telegram is glad to announce that it has made arrangements with Mr. Grove Patterson to run his column each day entitled "The Way of the World."

Mr. Patterson is editor of the Toledo Blade, and is an old Lorain County and Elyria boy. His great-grandfather, years ago, built a home two miles south of Elyria near LaPorte and there he lived and Grove's father before him, and here Grove was born. When a boy, he lived in Illinois for a little while, but returned to his former home and later attended Oberlin College where he graduated in 1905. His first newspaper work was on the Lorain Times Herald where he labored for two years. He then went with the Plain Dealer. For the last twenty years, he has been with the Toledo Blade of which he is now editor. During this period, he was for a time, editor of the Detroit Journal, and he is now editorial manager of the Newark New Jersey Star Eagle, in addition to his duties on the Blade.

Mr. Patterson's column "The Way of the World," is being syndicated and a good many papers are availing themselves of it, and we are glad that here in his home town, we will be able to have a column from his pen each day and we know that there are many personal friends who will be delighted to read his paragraphs and to feel that they are in daily touch with his mind. They will also be pleased to know that he has been able through his genius and ability to make such a place for himself as he has in the few short years that he has been out of college.

FINAL CHEST DRIVE MEET AT 6:30 WEDNESDAY NIGHT CELEBRATE IF SUCCESSFUL

Community Chest wokers will hold their final meeting tomorrow evening at 6:30 at the Y. M. C. A. At that time the workers will make their final report, and if the Chest goes over the top the whistles will blow, the bells ring, and every one will be advised of the success of the movement. It is confidently expected that this will take place.

All captains, workers and friends are earnestly requested to be present. There will be no meeting at noon tomorrow.

GOLDEN RULE SUNDAY TO BE DECEMBER 2D

Mrs. A. L. Garford Is Chairman and T. T. Robinson Treasurer of Near East Relief Society Here

President Coolidge, former President Wilson, members of the cabinet, governors and senators as well as all leaders over the country, have endorsed the observance of International Golden Rule, Sunday, December 2nd. Leaders of practically all religious, social and fraternal organizations have also endorsed it in connection with the work of the Near East Relief organization. Fourteen nations are to observe the day and have agreed to aid Near East Orphans.

The question is "Will the Golden Rule work among nations as well as individuals?" Charles V. Vickrey, president of the International Near East Association, and general secretary of the Near East relief, thinks that it will.

On this day millions of families in a dozen different nations will be asked through the Near East Relief and its affiliated and co-operating organizations to observe the day as one of international good will, and as a practical illustration of the Golden Rule principle, to serve a dinner approximately the same as that served every day in the year to the orphan children in the care of the Near East relief, and to contribute the difference between the cost of this meal and the usual Sunday dinner to the support of the orphans. Of course there need be no limitation of quantity, as there must of necessity be in the Near East orphanages, where not a scrap of food is wasted.

Mrs. A. L. Garford, is chairman of the local Near East committee, and T. T. Robinson, is local treasurer. Either of them will be glad to give necessary information as to the objects and will receive subscriptions of those who wish to respond to this very worthy cause.

NO PAPER THURSDAY, AD COPY MUST BE IN ON WEDNESDAY

The Chronicle-Telegram will not be published on Thursday, November the 29th, Thanksgiving Day. The Telegram force will take a day off as is their usual custom and enjoy the festivities of Thanksgiving Day events. This of course, will necessitate the full co-operation of the advertisers, for those desiring to have an advertisement in the Friday's issue, it will be necessary to have their advertisement ready on Wednesday.

STRAIN EFFORT IN DETERMINATION TO GO 'OVER THE TOP'

William Ely Increases Pledge to Insure Success of Drive—Workers Will Use Telephones in Final Finish

The Community Chest subscriptions have reached the amount of $73,794, according to the report made at Y. M. C. A. headquarters at noon today. This is within $12,726 of the desired goal of $86,000 and the workers expressed their determination that they will not fail. With but another day to spare, they will redouble their efforts. Telephones are to be brought into use. Names of all those whose names do not appear on the subscription cards are to be selected, and a corps of workers are to get busy and call them up in an effort to secure their subscriptions. It's a big task, but confidence is expressed that failure is not to be thought of.

W. A. Ely's Cheery Letter

The workers were doubly encouraged today by the following letter that was read to them by Chairman J. F. Burke:

To the Public Spirited Citizens of Elyria:

We have a full list of splendid benevolent institutions in this city, and we must not fail to support them. It is a great privilege to be able to do so much good with our money. If enough other fighting fools will join me to fill the chest, I will add $800 to my subscription. Here is a chance for us to make a grand stand finish and cover ourselves with glory instead of shame. You don't know what happiness is 'till you open your heart and give or act recklessly for a worthy cause. The chest plan originated here and it must not fail again.

Come on boys and girls: Let's go over the top.

Yours for the honor of Elyria.

Redouble Efforts

Chairman Burke then stated that all restrictions under which the canvassers have worked have been removed and that now they can go anywhere they choose to secure subscriptions. He urged them to redouble efforts and he was sure the desired goal would be obtained.

"LOVE IS THE REASON"

Not now is in our care the Babe of Bethlehem,
Nor can we give Him meat or drink, nor clothe,
nor visit Him:
But to our Lord's most gracious words give heed;
"When in My name ye meet another's need
YE DO IT UNTO ME!"

MR. ELY'S CHALLENGE

AN EDITORIAL.

ay at the luncheon, from Mr. Wm. Ely, who ady contributed $1,200.00 to the Community und, and very recently gave the beautiful he city, was read the following letter:

he Public Spirited Citizens of Elyria:

'e have a full list of splendid benevolent tions in this city and WE MUST NOT TO SUPPORT THEM. It is a great priv- be able to do so much good with our mon- enough other fighting fools will join me the Chest, I will add $800.00 to my sub- on. Here is a chance for us to make a stand finish and cover ourselves with nstead of shame. You don't know what ess is till you open your heart and give or cklessly for a worthy cause. The Chest riginated here and IT MUST NOT FAIL N.

ome on boys and girls, let's go over the top!

Yours for the honor of Elyria,

letter is self-explanatory. Mr. Ely loves Elyria as we all do. He has already contributed what he felt was his share, as many of us have, But he, like others, cannot bear to see this campaign for the Community Chest close having failed to raise the desired abount. He, therefore, suggests that providing the total amount is raised, he will increase his subscription by $800.00.

This proposition is a challenge to every other citizen in Elyria. It is a particular challenge to those to whom quotas have been apportioned and who have failed to meet those quotas, when a slightly greater sacrifice, a little more self-denial, the least particle of additional effort would enable them to reach their quota. It may have been a failure of only $10.00, but that $10.00 may mean the difference between enough and not enough, and that is the difference between success and failure.

This generous expression of loyalty and sympathy by Mr. Ely is a particular challenge to all of us to come up to our quota to insure the completion of the Community Chest fund. It is a tremendous challenge to the man or woman who might contribute and has not done it.

How shall we answer Mr. Ely? Shall we say, "Yes, we note your desire—our attention has been called to your generous offer. But we are are not sufficiently interested in humanity, in Elyria or in the brotherhood of man to be touched with the infirmities of others. We are going south for the winter, or our club life consumes our attention, or we are going to put a heater in our car, or we are using considerable gasoline for our joy rides and hence, we pray thee, have us excused."

Will that be our answer? It will not. We are going to say to Mr. Ely, "We are unable to contribute as much as you have. We realize that, but our interest is the same as yours in Elyria. We appreciate your spirit. We thank you for bringing to us this challenge for the honor of Elyria, for the good of the city, for the sustaining of these agencies, for our own personal character. Realizing that we are our brother's keeper, we are going to make a subscription. We are going to come up to our quota. We are going to do our part. We are with you in spirit."

We believe this will be the response of the Elyria people to Mr. Ely's proposition. Mr. Ely has made the final appeal that can be made to us to do our part. LET'S GO!

HAVE YOU SUBSCRIBED TO THE COMMUNITY CHEST? If you have not in this closing day, will you sign the subscription blank below and mail it today to the Community Chest Headquarters? Write your name, give your address, and specify the amount you are willing to give per month, and by multiplying the amount by twelve, it will give the amount per year. This subscription does not begin to run until January 1st.

You will want to have a part in this great enterprise. We want to send the news out tomorrow evening that Elyria has a soul; that she is a complete orbed city; that she has the best schools and churches; the best factories and workers; the best streets and government; and withal, as fine an humanitarian spirit as can be found in any city in America.

DO YOUR PART TO MAKE IT SO. SEND YOUR SUBSCRIPTION IN NOW.

ELKS AND BARBERS MAY CLASH SUNDAY

ANTLERS TO PLAY UNDEFEATED TEAM HERE ON THURSDAY

Manager Leedale of the Elks has secured for the Thanksgiving day attraction at Alumni Feld (at 3 p. m.) the Newark A. C.'s, a team with six victories and no defeats to its credit and composed of two Denison, one Grove City and Newark High school boys in its line-up.

The Elk's team has been somewhat of a mystery to its home fans, having secured its five victories on foreign fields, but on its home-coming day the purple and white management promises to show to the fans of Elyria the following players: Tulk, a Marietta letter man and E. H. S. graduate at center; Heinzerling Barton Rogers and Puls, all E. H. S. graduates, guards; Brouse, who preped at Miami; Shuster, E. H. S.; Marshall, E. H. S., and White of Oberlin, at tackles; Granger, who preped at Wesleyan, and a graduate of E. H. S., Green of Oberlin, and Clark, E. H. S., ends. The Elk's back field is composed of Crowe and Guthman, Hillsdale college; Rudekoff of Oberlin, and Rankin, Penfound, Oldfield, Vessey, Clark, Bruck and Hauserman, all old favorites of Elyria High.

SPORT FLASHES

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Rogers Hornsby is already a member of Giants, if semi-official reports wafted about today, can be believed. Hornsby has been traded here by the Cardinals, it is said, in one of those triangular transactions for which John McGraw was famous in other years, the Chicago Cubs being the other club involved. Giant officials would neither deny nor affirm the report but it was whispered that confirmation is being held in abeyance pending McGraw's return from Europe.

TOLEDO, Nov. 27—Low scores prevailed in all events rolled in the central states bowling tournament here last night. Elks team number 53, of Toledo, made 2706 for the high score of the night, which gave them eighth place in the tourney standing.

GRANGE, IN LINE FOR ALL-STAR HONORS, IS JUST LEARNING GAME, ASSERTS ZUPPKE

To the hundreds of thousands of folk who have seen "Red" Grange, mainspring of the Illinois eleven, play his usual sparkling game he seems a great player. He is. But, according to Coach Zuppke, he hasn't really got started yet. The Illini coach is tutoring him daily in departments of the game in which he still is weak.

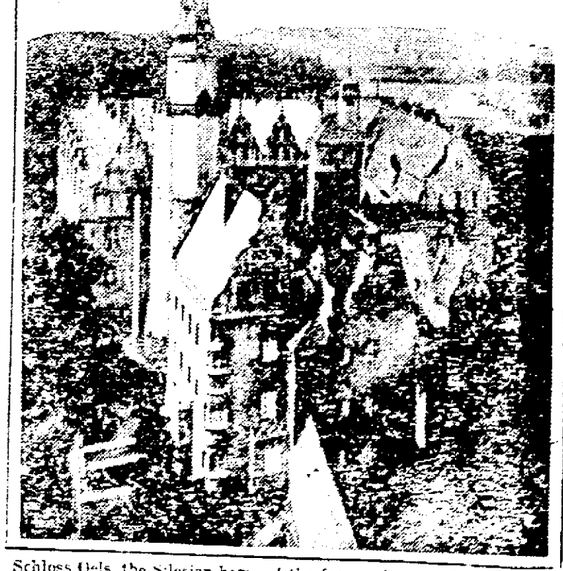

ARMY AND NAVY MUST REMAIN TIED ON GRID UNTIL '24

An idea of the ferocity of the play is given in this photo, taken in the third period. The men are fairly wallowing in mud.

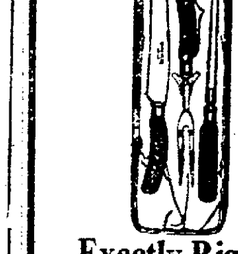

For another twelve months the Army and Navy must remain deadlocked on the gridiron after 33 years of play. The two service elevens went into this year's game tied in the number of victories won in their series—twelve each. One game had ended in a tie. When they clawed their way out of the mud and slop of the New York polo grounds the other day they had simply added another tie game to the record. This despite the fact that the Army was picked to win.

FLIER WRECKED AT CHICAGO, MANY HURT

Two Men and Woman Seriously Injured; Scores of Passengers Shaken Up

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Two railroad employes, one a woman were seriously injured and more than a score of trans continental passengers were shaken up when the Olympian, crack flier of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway crashed through an open switch into a string of slowly moving empty coaches here.

The wreck occurred in the yards, about a mile from the Loop.

One of the empty cars into which the speeding flier crashed was hurled from the tracks against the supports of a twenty foot signal tower, which collapsed, hurling the tower man, Paul Karmeres, to the ground. The stove in the tower set fire to the wreckage.

Karmeres, internally injured, was rescued from the burning wreckages by a crossing signalman who had fled his shanty a half minute before flying timbers reduced it to kindling.

Mrs. Kate Stemlick, a cleaner at work in one of the empty coaches also was seriously injured internally.

MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

Copyright, 1923, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The Ruse That Was a Failure.

THE sound of Dicky's key in the lock brought me out of my ironical reverie, and I quickly drew the coverlet almost over my head, completely shielding my face, that I might feign sleep. Marion's excited little-girl soprano mingled with Dicky's baritone as they entered the living room, and then they were suddenly silenced at Lillian's sibilant "Sh."

"What's the matter with Madge?" Dicky began with an alarm in his tone that did much to assuage the bitterness in my heart—such is the inconsistency of a woman.

"She's all right," Lillian returned reassuringly, "only she has one of her nervous headaches coming on, so I sent her to bed."

Her voice was so low that I had to strain my ears to hear her.

"Is she asleep?" Dicky's voice was almost equally low.

"Yes, and the little gods help you if you make any noise to waken her."

"That's right, sweetheart." I could visualize the noiseless thoughtfulness with which Marion was removing her outdoor things. "We'll be careful not to make a bit of noise. If she gets some sleep, she'll be in shape for the hard day before her to-morrow, but if she doesn't she's mighty likely to be flat on her back."

"I'll say goodnight then," Dicky answered. "Just let me leave this door ajar long enough for me to sort out my bath-robe and slippers from the junk heap. Then I can change in the bathroom without disturbing her. There's light enough comes through the hall transom for me to get into bed without knocking it over."

The Noiseless Entrance.

The door slid softly open, and I heard him groping in the wardrobe for the articles he had named. He reached past the wardrobe to the door leading from the bedroom into the hall, and slid back the bolt—an easy feat in that tiny cubicle—thus insuring his noiseless entrance from the hall. Then the door to the living room carefully slipped shut again, and I heard nothing more until the door connecting the bedroom with the hall was pushed open, and Dicky, with a clatter which would have awakened many multiples of the famous seven, crashed into the room, saving himself from a nasty fall by grabbing at the bed, which shook so violently that I had an apprehensive vision of its collapse with me inside it.

Lillian's luggage! We both had forgotten an her bags and suitcases were piled between the bed and the door. In the semi-darkness Dicky had not seen them, and he taken a header over them.

Useless to pretend sleep longer. Indeed, I already had been startled into an apprehensive "Oh!" But before I uttered Dicky's name, almost certain of betrayal of my wakefulness listening to his movements, I was able to pull myself together and change my utterance to a creditable imitation of a terrified "What's the matter?"

"What's the matter?" Dicky exploded, getting to his feet by means of pulling himself hand over hand a procedure which threatened anew the wobbly bed. "Whoever put those confounded——"

He broke off abruptly.

"Old girl, I'm so sorry. I forgot your headache for the second. Truly I didn't mean to crash in like this. I was trying to be extra careful because Lil told me you weren't feeling fit."

"Truly, I'm sure you were," I rejoined. "Did you hurt yourself?"

Dicky Gives Treatment.

"Nothing but some bruises which don't matter," he said. "But, I'm afraid you can't get to sleep again. What can I get you? A cold compress for your head?"

"Thank you, no. Turn on the light, so you can see where to stow Lillian's luggage which you stumbled over, and then if you'll hand me another of those sedative tablets—there's a glass of water right beside them—I think I'll be all right."

"How many have you had?" he demanded, frowning, as he turned on the light and pushed the suitcases out of the way.

"Only one."

"How long ago?"

I told him and he looked at his watch.

"It's too soon for you to have another," he said authoritatively. "I'll cure you and have you sound asleep in ten minutes. Come here."

He had turned out the light and got into bed as he spoke. With strong but tender arms he drew me close to him, and put my aching head against his shoulder. Then he began rubbing my forehead, long, magnetic strokes, which took away the pain as if by magic. Under their influence I forgot all the perplexities of the day, all my grievances against him. I knew, none better, that the morrow no doubt would bring me some fresh cause for uneasiness, but for the present I cuddled into his arms as a tired child might have done, and drifted happily into slumber.

HAVE YOU MET YOUR QUOTA?

"HAVE YOU MET YOUR QUOTA FOR THE COMMUNITY CHEST?" These words are on the lips of thousands today in Elyria. The wish and prayer that we may do so are in the hearts. If they were in the hearts of all the people, we would know that we could not lose. WE MUST NOT FAIL. A failure would not only mean handicapped institutions which are the beneficiaries of the Chest, but it would be a disheartening event in the experience of scores of workers who felt that this year we must complete the job. It would be to announce to the world that Elyria has not the stamina or the character to actually complete its work in looking after its social agencies. This will hurt Elyria's reputation. It will hurt the spirit of the town; it will affect it adversely as an industrial center and as a residential location.

Many people have increased their subscription this year. Some of them are paying actually more than they ought to because they cannot bear to see failure result. You, who haven't given what you should; you, who have not given anything at all—can you go on and enjoy the inestimable values of the agencies around you and realize that others are doing their full part in extending to the needy a helping hand and looking after the wants of little children and you are half-hearted or entirely a failure? You, who have pledged nothing at all, can you realize what kind of a place Elyria would be if we were all like you?

No, we are not speaking to the ones who have nothing or the ones who are unable to contribute, for after all, we realize that the real spirit is in the heart. It is in the condition of the mind and we know there are those who can furnish nothing at this moment but their prayers. There are those who are praying and because of their meager income are unable to aid. But they are asking that the spirit of the Father may move the hearts of those who have to make up for those who have not.

Will you not respond in these closing hours and help the agencies, aid in sustaining Elyria's reputation to a man or a woman's full part, and thus keep your own respect and regard, so that on Thursday as you gather around the Thanksgiving table and express your gratitude to the Giver of all gifts that you may have the satisfaction of knowing that as stewards none lack anywhere because of your neglect. DO IT NOW.

THE POLITICAL ZONE OF CALM

In the sweep of a great storm there is always a centre around which it swirls where a great calm prevails. Politically, we are in that sort of a zone. The fall elections are over, Congress is not in session, candidates for office at most are doing only a little reconnoitring, and everybody, Micawberlike, is waiting for something to turn up. It is scarcely possible to get up an argument between two men of opposite parties. They may meet at the Elks, the Moose, the Masons, or the Rotary, but there is nothing to talk about politically.

But in another week, Congress will convene. Mr. Coolidge will emerge from behind his traditional silence. Then the fun will begin. The press will teem with editorials for and against. The man on the street will be heatedly discussing questions which are as strange to him today as the market price of cocoanuts in Fiji, and the political wiseacres will begin to make their prognostication as to the dire or beneficial effects a certain piece of legislation is going to have on the country or the cost of living.

Politics is a strange game. It is hot and feverish on the Monday before election, and it has an immediate chill the day after. We wonder if the proverbial inhabitant of Mars who is always about to appear could understand it at all. He might not be expected to. But we are quite as incapable of understanding ourselves. Certainly there is no rational explanation for the political psychology of our time.

The country is dull, very dull, during these periods of political calm. If it were not for the rise and fall of cabinets in Europe, we should have no political news at all. The newspapers have to take very ordinary news to play up in the streaming headlines. There is a better chance for the second rate men to break into the limelight. The reporter is put to it to find something to write about, and Magnus Johnson going down cellar in his new home in Washington to put coal on the fire, becomes a matter of international importance.

But the calm will soon be over. Next Monday the political pot will begin to boil, and the witch's caldron in Macbeth with its strange contents will not produce a more spicy broth. For ourselves, we are looking forward with eagerness and expectancy.

KOMICAL TELEGRAMS

BY JIM ARMITAGE Himself

Jimmie Simpson is a papa again. It's a boy. A lot of people thought he'd name the new baby "Pretzel" after Mister Ford's son—but "Jimmie" is what they picked out.

Jim probably won't leave very many footprints on the sands of time in the next year or so—but he'll probably walk around the bath room considerable.

He's doing most of his sleeping in the afternoon and most of his singing in the wee small hours—Simpson I mean.

You know how these proud papa's are He was buying cigars for everybody he met and things like that—when someone asked him "Is the baby able to walk yet?" Now you know just how he felt and he said, "You'll smoke cigarettes and he walked down to the garage this morning."

Now Bert Daniels was among those present and thinking to cool the ardor of the local Ford representative replied. 'I suppose he came down for his rattle" Now Simpson's trying to laugh that off.

They hadn't ought to allow people to join the new papas—they have trouble enough ahead of them

Still the way they walk around you can hardly blame people—the papas seem to think the President of the United States runs second to them.

There's still a lot of talk about that Lorain-Elyria High game. You remember how they took our goat last year? Well we got it back Friday and I saw it this morning and they took good care of it. It's a lot fatter than when they took it—maybe they expected to keep it.

What they're going to do to us next year is terrible—I know for they told me so right over in the Port City

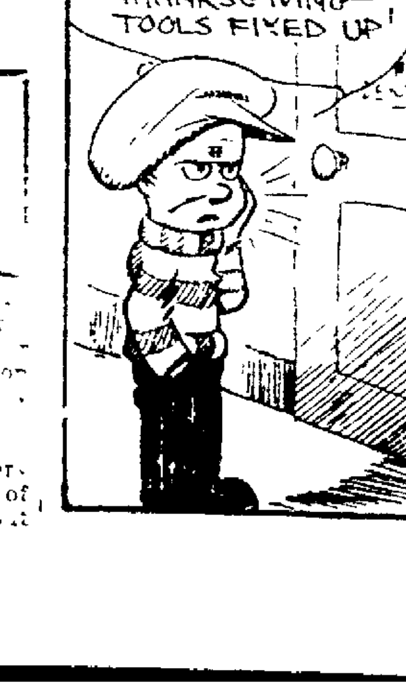

The Community Chest people ask you to fill the chest so Elyria will have a lot to give thanks for next Thursday. That will be something to be thankful for—but a lot of people will be thankful Thursday that they don't have to go to the Civic Club's ball Friday.

Guess they're going to raise a pretty good turnout—all the dress suit rental agencies report a good business.

It amuses me to go to parties like that and see the brothers strut their stuff in a dress suit. And it makes me smile to see them the next morning—in overalls driving a Chevrolet

Still charity is a virtue and us girls and boys will be generous

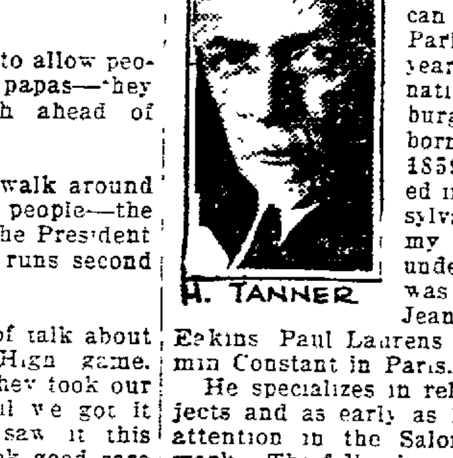

Still it give a lot of the brothers a chance to mingle with the select and get real chummy. Buy yourself a ticket but don't go up to the elite and slap the ladies on the shoulder—even charity has it's limitations.

POEMS THAT LIVE

TONIGHT

I love thee, mournfull, sober-suited Night!
When the faint moon, yet lingering in her wane,
And veil'd in clouds, with pale uncertain light,
Hangs o'er the waters of the restless main.

In deep depression sunk, the enfeebled mind
Will to the deaf cold elements complain,
And tell the embosom'd grief however vain,
To sullen surges and the viewless wind

Tho' no repose on thy dark breast I find,
I still enjoy thee—cheerless as thou art
For in thy quiet gloom the exhausted heart
Is calm though wretched, hopeless, yet resigned.

While to the winds and waves its sorrows given
May reach—though lost on earth—the ear of Heaven'

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"LLOYD GEORGE WILL RETURN TO POWER," SAYS BRITISH SOAP KING

Lloyd George will in time be returned to power, says Lord Leverhulme, soap manufacturer of Great Britain, now in the U S on a tour of the world Lord Leverhulme declared Premier Baldwin's protective tariff program a quack remedy prompted by political requirement, and predicted the English people, who always have fared well under free trade will express their disapproval in the elections

LORD LEVERHULME

"Through free interstate commerce within the United States, your 110 000,000 of people have benefited," said Lord Leverhulme. "If the United States profits by internal free trade, it is not reasonable that profits will be far greater when free trade is extended to a billion and a half of people on the outside?"

Lord Leverhulme declared a cure for unemployment in Great Britain lies in higher wages, and production when properly supervised will be doubled, increasing consumption and necessarily lessening unemployment.

"Give the men good wages," he continued, "compel them to double their output the present tendency is to loaf. Half a day's production is a mistaken idea With an honest day's pay and a full day's honest production economic law will take care of the unemployment problem. The plan of protective tariff would make for more unemployment by reason of tariff barriers upon trade

"The American tariff wall has made it exceedingly difficult for England to meet her debt to the United States. It lessens the English market here.

"You did not lend us cash," continued Lord Leverhulme, "but goods which were fired at the enemy and destroyed. If the United States would permit us to send English products conditions would be much better for both countries.

"Prosperity will come from making one man do what two men are now doing, instead of two men doing what is really an honest day's work for one.

"The two-man idea is a mistaken impression of the worker, done in the spirit of comaraderie in the belief that the scheme will give work to an additional worker. It is economically wrong Doubling output will cheapen the product, naturally increasing consumption Labor in England today is not lazy, but mistaken The average union man is doing only about half of what he can do, because he thinks it will give employment to another"

According to Lord Leverhulme, Germany is more friendly to England than to any other European nation today.

Seven Billion Debt to U. S. May Not be Paid For Long Time

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Uncle Sam, as a creditor, has on his books, about seven billion dollars, money borrowed from the American pepole and loaned to Europe, which the treasury designates as "uncollectable for an indefinite period." This substantially will be the report to congress next week by the American debt funding commission.

Preliminary to reporting to congress the status of obligations due the United States on account of war loans made to European countries, the American commission has just concluded a fresh survey of Europe's "ability to pay." The result of this is disturbing to the American government.

The attitude of France is regarded by higher officials as "disquieting." The American commission for the present has deferred resorting to a policy of prodding France to liquidate her Jebt which now totals approximately $4,000,000,000. The administration takes the view that to bring pressure upon France and other larger debtors would be a possible expedient, but a doubtful one for all practical purposes, as the French government has neither gold nor dollars with which to settle. The best that France has given the American commission is a promise, hinged upon what officials term purely visionary expectation of what France will force Germany to pay in war damages.

The American commission, while not disclosing the more intimate details of their survey, showing a distressing state in the European treasuries, will make it clear that it is now only possible for this government to pursue a policy of hopefulness that out of the reparations muddle some more logical common ground may be reached by the disputants, and thereby set going revenue producing channels now dormant.

Full cognizance has been taken by the American commission of France's enormous military expenditures and the extraordinary loans she is financing to the little nations of Europe. Expense of the Ruhr occupational so has been taken into calculation.

Aside from debt pyaments now being met regularly by Great Britain in liquidation of her debt of nearly $5,000,000,000, there is no belief that government revenues will be augmented from foreign sources for another year, or perhaps longer. Officials said it all depends upon Europe putting its own house in order.

In addition to the temporary uncollectable debts due by European countries, Europe owes to the U. S. about $3,000,000,000 in private commercial obligations. There is no hope of scaling this phase of the debts downward until Europe shows greater ability to produce and export to the U. S. more than she is buying.

The export record continues at a high level, too high, in the opinion of some American officials to expect an early striking of balance.

This meeting is the first of a series arranged with railway executives to discuss demands for wage increases, necessitated, according to the claims of the labor leaders, by increased living costs and comparative wages paid in industrial life.

NAB TWO MORE IN LIQUOR ARRESTS

Herbert Limpath and John Takacs Each Fined $500; Bootlegger Taken off Oberlin Car

Police chief E. J. Stankard and Sheriff Fred Underhill raided the home of Herbert Limpath, 131 Clinton avenue, last night, and confiscated a gallon of raisin jack. Limpath claimed that his brother-in-law had given him the liquor, but plead guilty this morning, of the illegal possession of intoxicants. He was fined $500 and costs, which he paid.

Yesterday afternoon a man called up the police station and told the department that there was a man on the Oberlin car who was a bootlegger, and that he had some of the goods with him.

Before action could be taken the car started for Oberlin. The police notified the sheriff's office, and deputy Clarence Adams gave chase in an automobile. He caught the car about three miles from the city and began a search of the passengers. He soon located Vera Harris, a colored man of Cleveland. Harris was found to be carrying on his person and in a package about two gallons of raisin jack. He was arrested and taken to jail. He claimed he was going to Oberlin to spend Thanksgiving, and had the booze for his own use. The officers believe he was delivering liquor to Oberlin customers. He will be arraigned before Judge Thompson some time today on a charge of transporting liquor.

Yesterday afternoon John Takacs, of Vulcan street was arraigned before Judge Thompson on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. Prohibition officer Frank Klady had found a large quantity of wine, and some whisky at his home. Takacs plead guilty to illegal possession, and was fined $500 and costs which he paid. The court also ordered his liquor supply destroyed.

The error case of Ziegnar Polgar, of this city, convicted twice of illegal possession of liquor was argued before Judge Thompson this morning. His attorneys claimed that the search warrant had been altered after his arrest; that the liquor according to testimony belonged to the wife when he was arrested, that the warrant did not allege the offense was committed in this State, and that Polgar did not have a fair trial in police court. City Attorney D. A. Baird, argued that the search warrant and all papers were all right, and that Polgar did have a fair trial. Judge Thompson will take the case under advisement.

MASS MEET AT AVON LAKE ON WATER SYSTEM

Survey Shows $750,000 Expenditure Necessary to Carry Out Plans

The county commissioners met with the residents of Avon Lake village and Sheffield Lake village, at Avon Lake school house last night, to consider the securing of a better water supply, by tapping on to the Lorain water mains.

There were about 150 present from the two villages. Drs. Wm. Crawford and Dr. H. C. Wilson, representing the county board of health were present and talked on sanitary conditions. They agreed that such conditions were bad in both villages, and that unless something was done bathing in the lake would become dangerous on account of the water being polluted. They recommended the building of a sewer system.

Dr. F. C. Dittoe, of the State Board of Health, also spoke on pollution of the lake, and agreed that better water should be provided as the wells were more or less polluted, and that a sanitary system of sewers should be provided.

Representatives of the two villages spoke and stated that they favored better water, and it was stated that Sheffield Lake expected to do something along this line the coming year. There were one or two objections to the proposed plan, one man stating that he did not believe the property was valuable enough to stand the necessary assessment. A firm of engineers had made a survey and made an estimate that the improvement would cost close to $750,000.

Engineer Miller, of Lorain, stated that at present the Lorain water works were working at capacity, but that improvements in filtration and pumping were contemplated next year that would allow the city to furnish water to the two villages.

The county commissioners told those present that they would be guided by the sentiment of the people, and that when they knew just what was desired they were ready to take action. No conclusion was reached at the meeting and nothing definite was done.

TEN-HOUR WORK DAY FOR THE CHINESE

Many of the worst evils of child and female labor in China will be abolished if the local governors carry out the provisions of a presidential decree establishing a ten-hour day in factories employing more than one hundred workers and under seventeen years of age.

The government of the republic is unable to accept the principle of a weekly rest day, because traditions and custom in China are not the same as in the western countries. Nevertheless, rest periods of at least two days in the month for adult workers and of at least three days in the month for male workers under seventeen years of age and for female workers under eighteen years of age are provided.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

Nature is mother—mother to the universe. Such a conception of Nature, in the autumn, seems more beautiful than ever. She is as watchful in the dreary days and nights of November as under the hazy blue of October skies. She provides the scampering creatures of the forest with instincts which teach them to make warm winter homes. She thickens their fur and prepares them for a hard and barren season. And Nature puts the flowers away. But it is only for a little while. In the spring she will breathe life into them and they will come back to be among folks and bloom anew. So the summertime will come again. How many of us remember the last verse of Helen Hunt Jackson's poem about November: Sometmies the viewless mother bids
Her ferns kneel down full in my sight;
I hear their chorus of "good night;"
And half I smile, and half I weep,
Listening while they lie "down to sleep"
November woods are bare and still;
November days are bright and good;
Life's noon burns up life's morning chill;
Life's night rests feet which long have stood;
Some warm soft bed, in field or wood,
The mother will not fail to keep,
Where we can "lay us down to sleep."

President Burton of the University of Michigan, says that the paper he likes is the one that unobtrusively makes a reader's interests a little broader and his horizons wider. Most newspaper editors strive to do that. Some do not. Those who do strive to broaden a bit the horizons of their readers rarely get credit for any such impulse. They are usually believed to be engaged in printing the largest possible amount of amazing and sensation-creating information for the reason that, presumably, they are not interested in anything else. As a matter of fact many editors are interested in a great deal else. But no newspaper will get much of an audience unless it furnishes some entertainment along with a bit of serious talk. Comic pages and large headlines are like music with meals.

Mrs. Mary Newland Carson, living in a suburb of a great city, has been a shut-in for fourteen years. Crippled with rheumatism, she cannot raise her face to see the sky. But with a tiny pocket mirror she can see a patch of blue. It was only just lately that she found she could have a bit of the heavens in at her window. And Mary Newland Carson is so joyous that she has written a poem about her little bit of sky. A magazine editor paid her fifty dollars for the verses and now she is very happy. How many of us ever feel like singing a song for all the sky and all the heavens and all the friends about? How many of us WOULD feel like it if we sat in one place all day and glimpsed our mite of sky through a tiny looking-glass? Thanksgiving comes in a few days. Think it over.

Politeness, said Joubert, wise Frenchman, is the flower of humanity. We could get along without flowers, but think how it would change the face of the earth if no flower ever bloomed! We can live in a vegetable world if we choose. Some do. It's practical. There will be three meals a day and a bed to sleep in. But if we are intelligent, do we choose to live in a vegetable world? Politeness, indeed, is the real flower of humanity. It is the bloom on the stalk of civilization.

ALLISTER LAUGHS AT CHICAGO NOW HOME WITH PRETTY ENGLISH BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Allister McCormick.

Chicago was laughing at Allister McCormick a year ago, but Allister is laughing at Chicago now. The man who was left waiting at the church by Mary Landon Baker is back home with a bride, the former Miss Joan Tyndale Stevens, daughter of the Hon. Mrs. Astley of England. They were married in Paris.

Executive clemency was based upon the claim of Montagnio's innocence.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 27—Active work of selecting a city manager for Cleveland will begin Monday when all nominations must be submitted to council in writing. Henry M. Waite, former manager of Dayton and Arthur E. Morgan, president of Antioch College, are among those under consideration by council members elect.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 27.—Money from the general revenue fund should be used to build the proposed new $3,000,000 state office building, instead of borrowing from the state industrial commission, State Auditor Tracy advised Saving to the state on interest charges would be approximately $165,000 a year, according to Auditor Tracy.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 27. — The state industrial commission has authorized a post mortem to be held over the body of Mike Topolko, miner recently found dead at Neffs. Relatives who claim he was electrocuted, seek an award under the state workmen's compensation act.

NEWARK, Nov. 27. — Desso Nichols goes on trial in common pleas court on charge manslaughter for striking with his auto and killing David Griffith, aged seven years old last May.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 27.—Girl wives may sue for divorces if their cases were filed before Ohio's new law became effective, according to a decision handed down by the court of appeals yesterday. The recent law advanced the age of majority for women from 13 to 21 years.

DAYTON, Nov. 27.—Indications today are that, if the weather permits, a new world altitude record will be hung up before Saturday night. Lieutenant John A. Macready and the Lepere airplane he will use are ready for the flight to regions never before penetrated by man.

MANILA, Nov. 27—The Philippine senate today unanimously overrode the veto of Governor General Leonard Wood to the bill remitting penalties for the non payment of land taxes in 1923. This is a pet measure of Manuel Quezon, militant anti Wood leader. The measure now goes to the house which is expected to concur with the senate.

Back Achy? Feel "All Played Out?"

IT isn't natural to always feel tired, weak and dispirited. Yet thousands drag along feeling old, worn-out and discouraged—tortured with backache and sharp, stabbing pains—miserable with headaches, dizziness and bladder irregularities. Are you one of the unfortunates? Then you should realize that these are common signs of kidney weakness, and begin using Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have brought relief to thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Here's an Elyria Case:

Mrs. Frank McAllister, 515 W. Third St., says: "Whenever I have a pain in my back or my kidneys get out of order, I use Doan's Kidney Pills and they never fail to give me relief. Other members of the family have used Doan's with benefit, too. I always buy Doan's at Ebert's Drug Store."

STOCKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Steadiness characterized the forenoon trading on the stock exchange today. No important changes occurred. Bullish initiative was restrained, due to the appearance of considerable profit taking, especially in the oils, but sufficient buying power was in evidence to prevent any reaction of consequence.

Fractional gains were noted over the list at the opening, but as the session propressed these gains turned into fractional losses

Railroads were steady, the majority of stocks showing fractional losses. Steels and oils also were steady but fractionally lower.

Why Girls

Are not prettier—why women grow old

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I was a plain girl, but I made myself a famous beauty. I have reached the age of 62, but I keep my youthful looks. Countless young girls envy my hair and my complexion.

No ordinary beauty helps ever did, or ever will, bring such results to women. I searched the world for the best helps in existence. I spent a fortune to obtain them. To them I owe all that beauty and perennial youth have meant in my career.

Now I have placed those identical helps at your call. To girls they mean multiplied beauty, to women continued youth. I urge you to let them bring to you what they brought to me.

The great mistakes

Millions of women seeking beauty and youth use unscientific helps. Now I bring you the best helps in existence.

Clay is a beauty essential. No girl can look her best without it, no woman keeps her youth. But not the crude and muddy clays so many still employ. A super clay has been perfected by 20 years of scientific study. It is white, refined and dainty. It is ten times more effective than the ordinary clays.

I call this my White Youth Clay Many women, with one use, seem to drop ten years. It brings a rosy, clear complexion. It removes the causes of blackheads and blemishes It irms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles My White Youth Clay will amaze and delight you. I urge you to see what it does. The cost is 50 cents and $1.

Scientific Creams

Women use creams which no great expert in the world could sanction. I made a world-wide search to get the best creams in existence.

One is my Youth Cream—a cold cream. It contains both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that science knows to soften, feed and foster the skin texture.

I use it after the clay Also as a night cream, also daytimes as a powder base. Never is my skin without it I want you to learn what Youth Cream means to you. It costs only 60 cents.

My Facial Youth is a liquid cleanser which I found in France. Great beauty experts the world over now employ it. It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. The skin cannot absorb it. But it cleans to the depths, and removes from the skin all the dirt and refuse which nothing else can reach.

You will know for the first time what a clean skin means when you apply my Facial Youth. The cost is 75 cents.

Hair you marvel at

Millions marvel at my luxuriant hair. It is thick and lustrous—finer far than 40 years ago. Falling hair, dandruff and gray hair have never come to me.

This is also due to France. She perfected my Hair Youth. I apply it daily with an eye dropper, directly to the scalp. It does not muss the hair. It cleans the scalp, stimulates and fertilizes and brings the results I show.

If you wish like hair, use this method—the best that science knows. My Hair Youth costs 50 cents and $1 with eye dropper.

All druggists and toilet counters supply these preparations. Nothing else in all the world can bring you like results. Go try them. Let them bring you what they brought to me Edna Wallace Hopper. Business address, Waukesha, Wis.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over RHEUMATISM

Has Also Proven Remarkably Successful in Severe Cases of Rheumatic Neuritis.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allenrhu, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense Allenrhu with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment.—Advt.

Filled to Overflowing With the Joy of Living

The simplest remedies are nearly always the best. That's why thousands of bright-eyed, clear-skinned men and women keep themselves fit and fine by having an abiding faith in the simple, old-fashioned, inexpensive vegetable tea that your grandmother used to make.

It purifies the blood, regulates the bowels, keeps the stomach clean and sweet and is the best tonic laxative you can take.

The kiddies like it, too, for it is gentle and mild. Give it to them when they are fretful and feverish.—Advt.

"OH JOY" COMES TO RIALTO ON THANKSGIVING

"Oh Joy" is billed at the Rialto theatre for one day, matinee and evening, Thanksgiving Day. Some out of the ordinary scenery and appropriate costumes fill two acts and seven scenes to overflowing and they are marvels of beauty.

The first act, "All In Fun," provides the comedians with a chance to see to it that the fun doesn't drag. The second act "The Bimbo Isles" gives ample opportunity for some delightful scenery and startling costumes. A refreshing, dainty and shapely chorus takes full advantage of all opportunities. Specialties and musical numbers are given in plentiful number.

The fun is fast and furious and it continues through the entire program. Seat sale Wednesday.

In about 21 per cent of the farm homes, reported in the recent government survey, artificial power is used in housework.

THEATRES

Dreamland — Art Acord in "The Oregon Trail," episodes 16, 17 and 18. Also a good comedy and the news pictures.

American—"Mighty Lak' A Rose," is a real symphony of home life. The picture has been adapted to music, and a special program of music accompanies it. There is love in both high and low life pictured in this production and it is an appealing offering Also a new program.

Grand—"His Children's Children." Many a married couple have wondered what their children will be like at the present progress of the world. Bebe Daniels, Dorothy McKaill, James Rennie and George Fawcett make this picture worth seeing. There is also a brand new program of feature pictures and a new comedy.

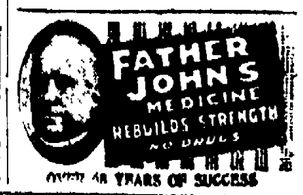

Colonial—The great picture "Fury." One of the scenes in this picture is worth the price of admission. It is a sea picture, and is full of exciting incidents, including a violent storm scene that stirs the blood. The theatre also offers a change of program throughout.

Rialto—Sam Raymond and his bunch of burlesquers, "Oh, Joy." A real live bunch, and they will be here on Thanksgiving day matinee and evening.

MAY CHANGE NAME

LORAIN, Nov. 27.—The Black River Telephone is preparing to ask the State Utilities Commission to change the name to The Lorain County Telephone Co. They also announce that on account of large developments necessary they will re-finance the company, and would within ten years have an investment of $10,000,000.

KITCHEN SHOWER HONORS MISS STARR

Miss Lila E. Starr whose marriage to Fred Bohlen will be an event of the near future was the honored guest at a party last evening given by Mrs. Frank R. Crawford at her home on Middle avenue.

Several interesting games, including the playing of progressive hearts, and the outlining of the bridal trip by the guests for Miss Starr were features of the evening. Miss Ella Parmelee won high honors in the game of hearts

The gifts for the bride-to-be were presented in the form of a huge shower bouquet with many utensils as the flowers and streamers of ribbon attached to the smaller articles of kitchenware. Eighteen friends were present and each had her gift of aluminum, pyrex, or glass for Miss Starr as well as some others who sent gifts when they were unable to come. After the presents had been opened, admired, and exclaimed over, it was learned she had received some forty in all and that her kitchen in the new home would be completely furnished for some time to come.

Decorations consisting of pink and white hearts were used effectively throughout the house. Favors in the shape of pink wedding slippers, with a white one for the bride-to-be, were given with the pink and white cakes and ices.

GIRL RESERVE BANQUET LARGELY ATTENDED

The Mother-Daughter banquet given by the Girl Reserves last evening in the gymnasium of the Y. W. C. A. was a good fellowship meeting and was attended by nearly one hundred keenly interested Y. W. C. A. workers.

Mrs William Graves Sharp president of the board of directors, was toastmistress for the evening, and after a splendid supper and good music provided by the High school orchestra, Mrs Sharp introduced Miss Mary Alice Finney, Executive Secretary of the Girl Reserves She explained to the mothers the purpose of the Girl Reserve movement, that is to have abundant life, and by having abundant life each Girl Reserve would have a better home life filled with love. kindness and good-will to everyone, and with health, right living and right thinking happiness is bound to come. Miss Finney's talk was instructive but short for she was forced to make an early train.

Mrs. Sharp next introduced Mrs. James VanDusen who is not a mother to any one little girl, just a big fine mother to every little girl. Mrs. VanDusen's talk came right from the heart so that every mother who heard her realized that her own experiences in life had made her capable of giving the best kind of advice to mothers as well as to the daughters and none of those present will forget it soon. There were two little pieces spoken by the president, Ellen Cox, and Doris Caywood.

"LOVE IS THE REASON"

The person who is able and does not do his part to the Community Chest this year will be a marked person.

How? He will be marked by himself in his own conscience and character. He is known to himself most of all.

The great humanitarian enterprise of his city is working that all may have abundant life and he is distinguished by his indifference and parsimony.

He will be marked by his neighbors not because he did not give, but because he had not the spirit of the giver.

They will see it—they know it full well.

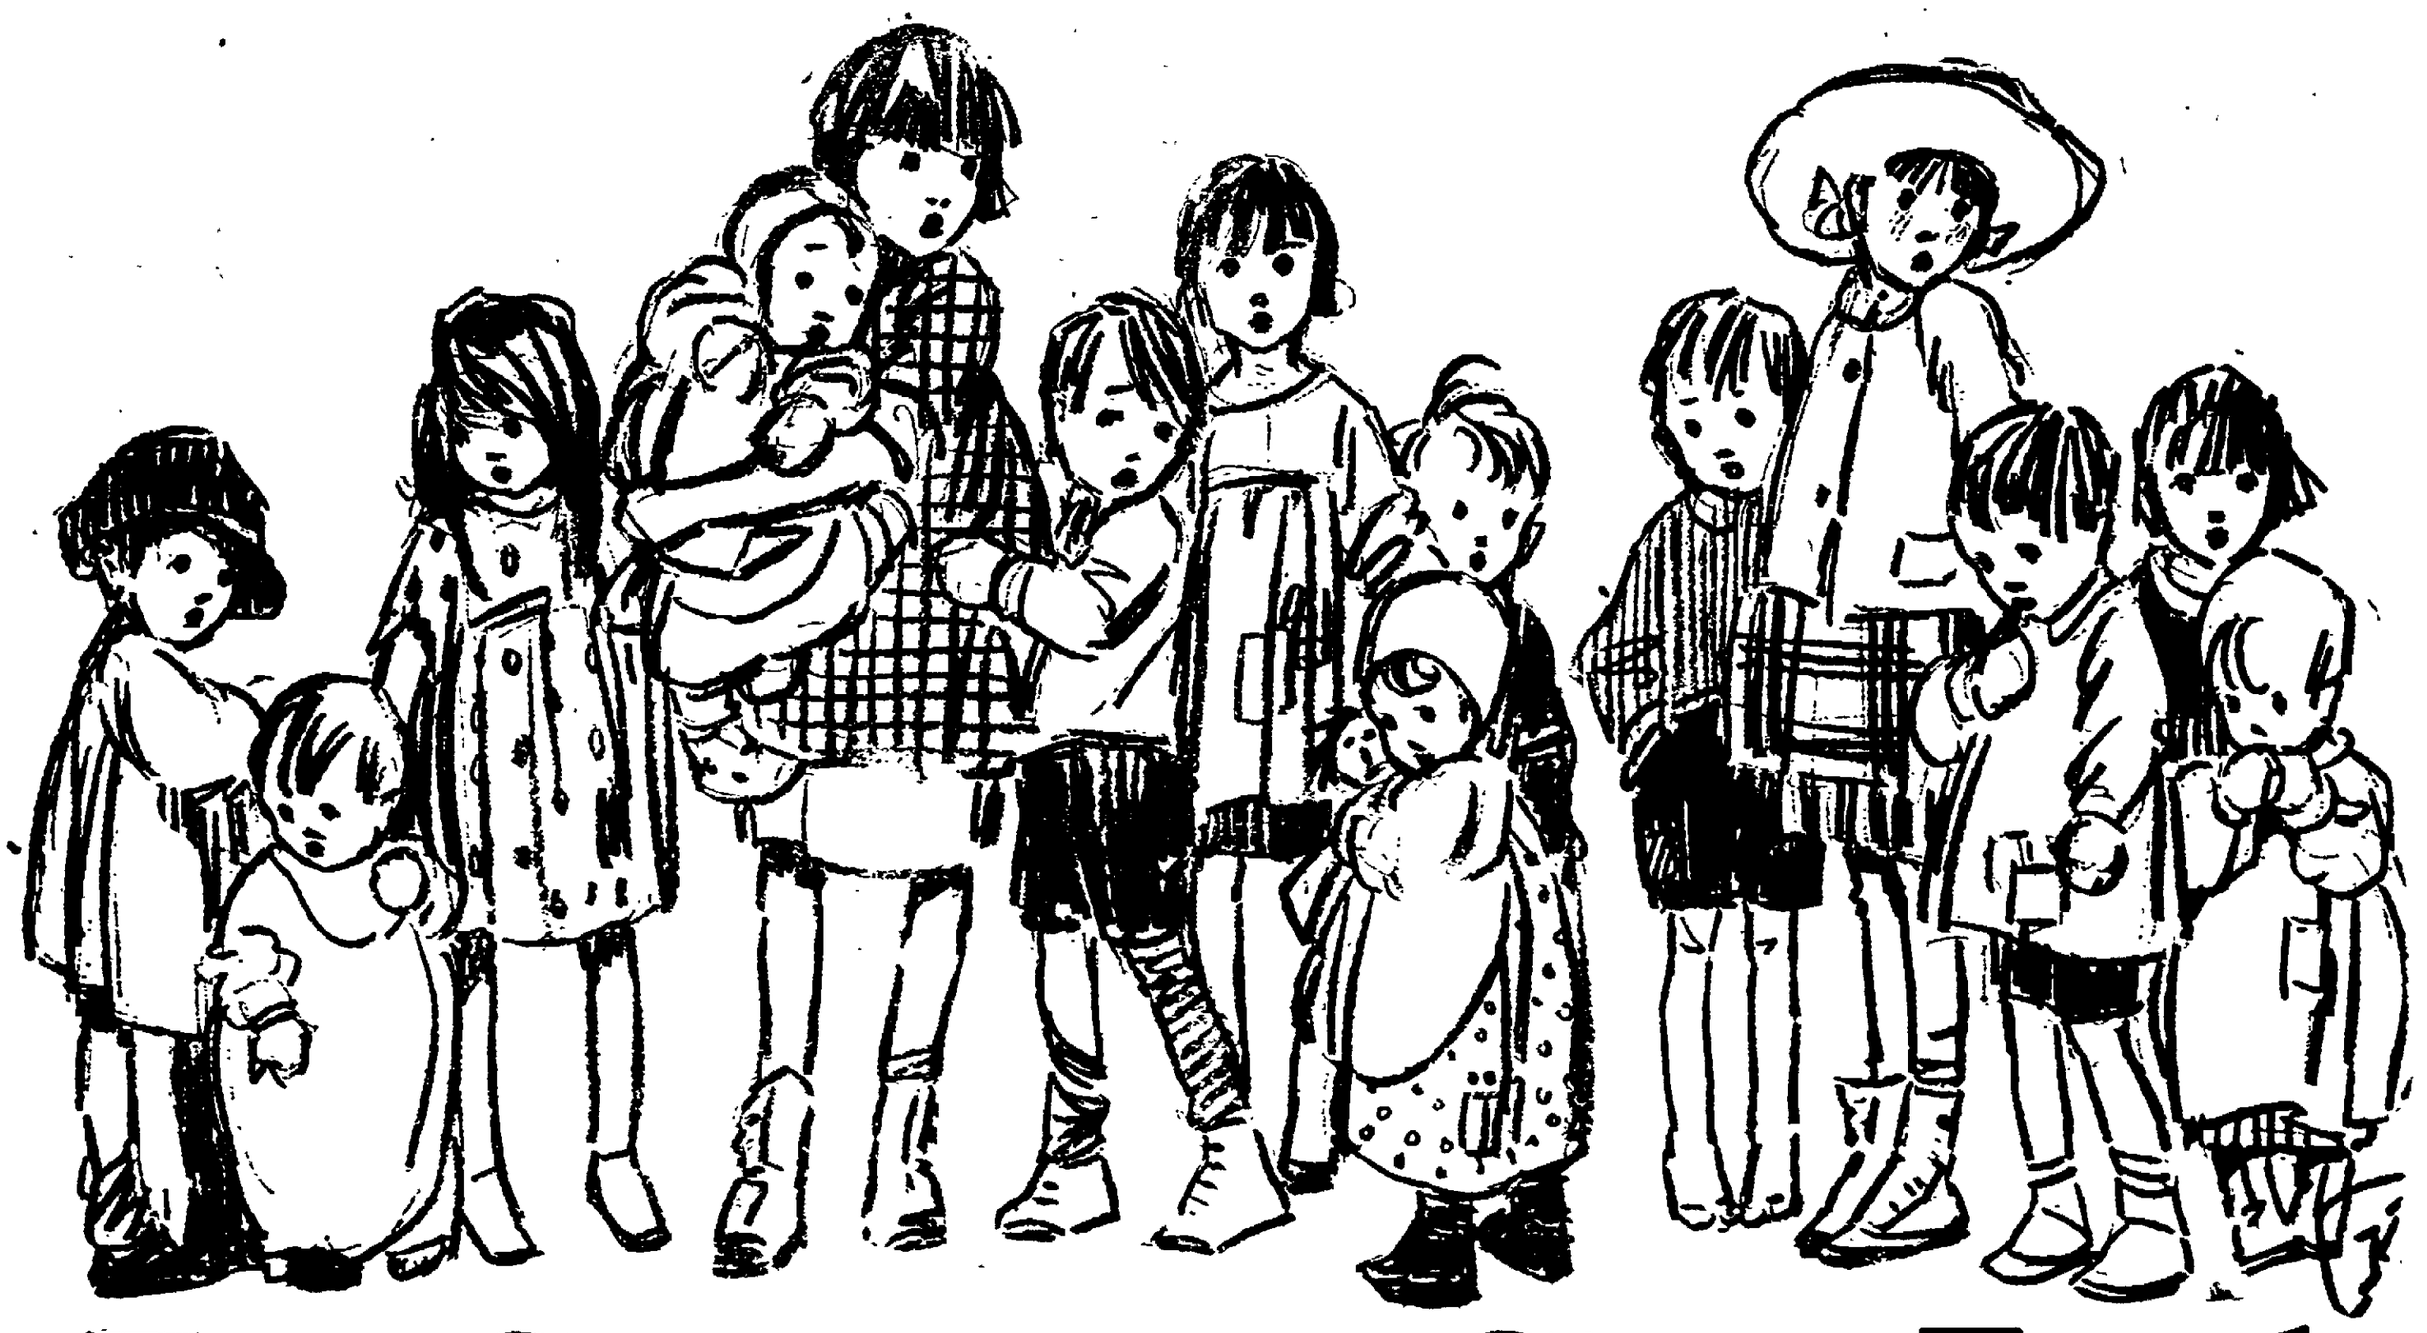

The sentiment of Elyria is onward and upward and the person who is out of sympathy with its spirit will soon have no place where he can find congenial companionship.

He will be a wanderer in his social life because like Cain he did not realize he is his brother's keeper.

It is our business to create such an atmosphere that selfishnes and greed must die. Help create that atmosphere.

There is yet time to do your part. Do it now.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

Major Sir William Orpen, who celebrates his forty fifth birthday today, is a distinguished British portrait painter who has become known personally to many Americans as a result of his recent tour of the United States and Canada. Sir William is an Irishman by birth, and one of the most brilliant and humorous of the younger painters. His art was certainly not born to blush unseen, or rather unrecognized, for he has obtained an exceptional vogue as a portrait painter, and is one of the best sellers in London. He is a member of the International Society of Sculptors, Painters and Gravers, the National Portrait Society, the Royal Society of Portrait Painters, and The New English Art Club, and is on the council of several of the societies. He was elected an associate of the Royal Academy in 1910. During the late war he was commissioned by the British Government to paint incidents and personages engaged in the great conflict.

DID POSTMISTRESS GIVE DOCTOR LOVE AS BRAIN TONIC?

Miss Mattie Wilson.

A judgment against Miss Mattie Wilson, Madison, Wis., postmistress, for $20,000 is asked by Mrs. J. B. Wadey of that city, in the hearing of her suit against Miss Wilson for the alienation of her husband's affections. Mrs. Wadey says that Miss Wilson stole the love of her mate, a prominent Madison doctor. Miss Wilson says she gave the doctor only "intellectual companionship" — that they were interested in literature and read and discussed books together.

Old Virginia Pocahontas Lump
A Ton $10.00 Cash

Old Virginia is mined in the Pocahontas field and excels all Pocahontas except the No. 3 vein. It burns readily and easily under light draft, with practically no soot or smoke after the fire is kindled. There is only a fine red ash left and no clinkers. An olive green cast distinguishes this from the No. 3 coal. We guarantee this coal. It will pay you to call us for prices on our other grades.

AUTO SALES MANAGER "STEPS ON GAS"

Popular Akron, O., Automobile Man, Gets Quick Relief From Nervous Breakdown. Praises Todd's Tonic as Great Health Builder.

"I suffered from run-down condition. My appetite was poor and what I did eat caused me untold misery. Some mornings I felt too sick even to come to the office. I was under weight and had a tired, worn-out appearance. Then a friend advised me to use Todd's Tonic.

"This wonderful tonic did wonders for me. I have a good appetite and can put more pep and ginger in my sales talk than ever before. I gained 14 lbs. in weight and in two months time. I have a feeling of good health all the time. No more milk and bread diet for me since using Todd's Tonic. I can make a big steak and all that goes with it disappear without any effort at all. I also find that I can keep going all day at high pitch without that tired, nervous feeling. I do not hesitate to recommend Todd's Tonic for any overworked business man. As a relief for stomach and nervous troubles it has no equal."—OSCAR J. FARKBONNER, 206 Market Street, Akron, Ohio.—Sales Manager, The Universal Motor Company.
